Celebration of the Sixth Triennial Festival of the Bangor Mechanics' Association.

The Bangor Mechanics' Association on Friday last celebrated their sixth Triennial Festival by an excursion in the Steamer T. F. Scur to Castine, by public religious services and an address in the Universalist Chapel that town, and by a public dinner in the old fort.

Between three and four hundred persons men and women assembled on board the steamer at seven o'clock in the morning. The Bangor Brass Band discoursed eloquent music and a large party assembled at the wharf to witness the departure. The morning was cloudy, but the weather wise declared appearances propitious, and the boat started off with a gleeful party, soon upon enjoying the day. The passage down the river was a pleasant one and made junonous only by the numerous introductions and interchanges of kindly social intercourse. Many acquaintances were thus happily formed which will last forever, and by the time the boat reached Castine all seemed to feel as one family and solicitous for each other's welfare.

The boat reached Castine in three hours from the time of starting. A numerous company were ready to greet the party on their landing, flags were flying at the wharf, from the spacious and well covered tent at the fort, and from the belfry of the Church. Friends at Castine formed an escort. A long procession was then formed and proceeded through some of the principal streets to the Universalist Chapel, where the following exercises took place:

Ode written for the occasion

BY S. E. WESTON

FATHER Most High, this day
Devoutly will we pay

Thine e'erlasting b'r

In our fast hour,
We own thy guardian power,
That fitly dawning hour
Hath watched our way

We meet as brethren meet,
In friendship each we greet,
Heart linked with heart,
By that bright golden chain
Whose links are ever true,
Untested, shall remain,
In every heart

Or am I not, yet still
Yet will it never depart
Our souls best peace,
Thee can the toiling heart,
While he toils the most,
Labour can never be lost—
Will live and him

Without a what wile life?
The world with blessings etc.
Would drown us,

Chies, or other wise,

In beacons grand stand,

The earth on every hand,

Stones fly

Lo, we're over it twice,
For all the world ways

Please us,

With Science at side,

With Geans as its guide,

It scatters broad wide

Great happiness.

Not simply with our hands,
For nature's gifts are free

We took—

But yet that's over the mind,
Knowledge and Truths combined,
May shed a light refined,
To teach our way

In all our souls Most High,

With Thee never high

To cheer us on,

Whatever be our sphere,

May we in Thine own fear,

Act well our part whole here—

Live over me,

Safe guide o'er the sea of time,

Be there our helm and chart

Geans, at whose triumphal shrine

We lead us gratefully

Is but a wandering ray of Thine
Own vast infinity
Sorrows, whose wretched treasures e'er
Voluntarily and full,
Our latest energies inspire
To serve the unconquered will,

Is but a glimmering fugitive view
Of Thine unmeasured skill,
Of glories, fathomed not, never
Which, changless love reveal

And Mind, with all its innumerable fire

And undying power,

Of Soller, Golden Art the fire

Is but thy priceless dowry

All that commands you just esteem,

The beautiful, the grand,

Or Art or Nature be your theme

We over it from Thy hand

Then Father! source of all we prize,

Be this our future, our theme

What we desire, what we to the skies

And Science leads her faire,

Our favorite ART with pencil fine

And grateful singer true,

Shall trace the love of Divine—

A. G. BIGLEY'S
CELEBRATED IMPROVED EVER-
POINTELLED
GOLD PEN.

This Pen received the highest premiums at the last Fair of the American Institute, and has been pronounced by the first Teachers of Penmanship in the country to be infinitely superior to any I had hitherto introduced to the public.

These Pens are indistructible except by brutal violence—no ink will injure them—retain their elasticity, and the peculiar shape of the nibs (which was first introduced by Bigley) makes it more pleasant to use, renders it less liable to damage, more easy to repair, and prevents the necessity of frequent care but other articles of the kind are inferior.

Manufactured 189 Broadway, N. York, and 149 High St. / et al. in New Haven, Conn. and 1511 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.
